Online Auction Software!

People have been buying and selling items through auctions for hundreds of years. Now online auction sites are a normal part of everyday life. With many other online auction providers out there, we make it easy by offering you ready-to-go online auction software with features to help your auctions run smoothly and efficiently.

Some features include:

Auction Reporting

Custom Auction
Website

Industry knowledge and experience

We focus on the single-seller style of auction. We have worked with:

- Auction companies looking to offer another method of selling their items.
- Non-profits using the auction format to raise funds.

- Companies wishing to get rid of unused equipment in a single one-day auction.
- Businesses looking for an easy way to liquidate excess inventory.

IN CASE YOU MISSED IT

The Difference between “Auction Marketing” vs “Traditional Marketing”

As an auction company you likely have run into some serious questions about how to market your website. It may seem nearly impossible – especially since your website content is constantly changing to reflect new auctions and items within those auctions. In light of the need to approach marketing your auction website in a much different way than any other traditional website, we like to refer to this as “auction marketing” simply because the overall approach does to be different than the traditional method of marketing any other conventional website. Read on to learn what to do for auction marketing vs traditional marketing!
